Corporate Training & Education Services

Looking to solve a department or organizational issue, but need education & training to back it up?

Need to enhance your leadership skills?

Have a desire to communicate more effectively and professionally?

Struggling with the intricacies of managing personnel?

Searching for a project management overview course for your team?

Are you facing skill set gaps but not sure how to leverage training to bridge them?

YOU NEED A BULLDOG!

What We Do

The Corporate Training & Education division offers programs that introduce professionals to KSA's (Knowledge, Skills, & Abilities) that are needed to succeed in areas ranging from project management to business communication.

Standardized courses, as listed below, can be delivered as desired in multiple formats. In addition, Bulldog Consulting Services is also experienced with immersion approaches, where we offer customized training programs that enable clients to tailor content to meet their organizational needs. In all, Bulldog Consulting Services' training programs are designed to serve as a truly gap-driven solution, where results are not only measurable but sustainable.

Why We're Different

The Bulldog Consulting Services team prides itself in its expertise with all aspects of adult education, including custom design and development. The results are material that is relevant, timely, and specific so as to bridge the gap between concept and application.

Content delivery is based on proven adult learning theory, in which attendees are engaged in a two-way participatory environment where collective experience and insight are leveraged to create meaningful dialogue. Retention rates are bolstered by real-world & practical exercises that rely on feedback and communication between the facilitator and participants.

At Bulldog Consulting Services, We MEAN Business!

We're passionate, loyal, diligent, and determined. We're like a dog with a bone. We won't let go of an issue until it's been fully dissected, analyzed, and resolved to your satisfaction.
